RACING AT BENNINGS NOT PROF. ITABLE FOR BOOKMAKERS.

Only Three Stake Events to Be Decided This Week-Coney Island Events Close To-day-Plea for More Long-Distance

Racing-End of Morris Park in Sight. Many turfmen who were at Bennings during the past week spent yesterday in town and congregated at the various meeting places along Broadway. Some of them will not go back to Washington, but will go from here direct to New Orleans, where the Crescent City Jockey Club's meeting opens on Thanksgiving Day. Those who were in a critical mood yesterday declared that the sport seen so far at Bennings had been good in point of public form and cleanly run races, although class was altogether lacking. The fact that the value of the purses and the stakes is even less than what prevailed at Aqueduct has served to keep high-class horses in the stables. while the so-called "poor owners" are at present enjoying a field day with the chance of winning a purse here and there to pay feed bills this winter. The bookmakers who have come back from the Washington track are anything but enthusiastic.

There was too much smart money there. said one of them yesterday, "and not enough public coin to offset it." A few wise ones got their money down at liberal prices, while the rank and file wouldn't bet anything to speak of. As a consequence, we were literally burned up on several occasions last week. Sixty-five started to book on the first day, while there were only forty in line yes-terday. If things keep on the vary they have m going all of the boys will skip the town.

Bennings enters upon its second week to-day. There are only three stake events to be decided all through the week. The Vestal Stakes, for three-year-old fillies, at a mile and a haif, and the Bennings Special, for three-year-olds and upward, at the same distance, will be run on Wednesday. All of the best horses that have been running during the week Just closed are nominated for the Special. On Saturday the Third Hunters Champion Steeplechase, at about three miles, will be the chief attraction, the subscribers to which must all be members of the National Steeplechase and Hunt Association.

The Coney Island Jockey Club wishes to call attention of owners and breeders to the fact that entries close to-day for the following important stake events.

For the June meeting, 1803—The Foam Stakes, for two year-olds, five furlongs, $2,500 added, estimated value, $6,000. The Surf Stakes, for two-year-olds, weight for age, one mile and a quarter, guaranteed value $20,000. The Hermaid Stakes, for three year-olds weight for age, one mile and a furlong, $2,500 added; estimated value, Bennings enters upon its second week There are only three stake events to

For the June meeting, 1805—10c Lawrence Realization Stakes.

An agitation in favor of more long-discence racing in future has been started. Turfmen generally are backing it up with their moral support. The argument is set forth that if the various racing associations next year will regularly put upon their programmes races of say a mile and a half and a mile and three-quarters, three or four times a week, the public will not only appreciate it, but the owners will also enter their horses liberally. Such events would provide excellent preparation for the cup events, which, in recent years, have dwindled to nothing in point of starters. One of the strongest advocates of long-distance racing is Alexander Shields, part owner of Advance Guard, the iron horse who has won among other prizes this year the Woodlawn Vase. Mr. Shields in talking of the matter said the other day:

"I think long-distance events are more."

Shields in talking of the matter said the other day.

"I think long-distance events are more interesting to the public and also to owners, because there is a thorough test of the horses' merits and few of them win on flukes. Sprinting nowadays is being overdone. Races down the chutes are unpopular with spectators, because they cannot see more than the last few strides, whereas in the race of over a mile there is plenty of action for the onlooker. I intend to win a whole lot of long-distance events next year, for the success of Advance Guard has made me intensely enthusiastic."

enthusiastic.

The strongest argument in favor of such races is the public's desire for them. It is safe to say that there was more genuine interest displayed in the running of the long interest displayed in the running of the long distance events this year than in the sprints. That is to say, the enthusiasm was prompted not by the betting, but more because of the spectacular effect and the test of the horses' running qualities. The fizzles into which the cup events have gradually fallen, because of a lack of good long-distance horses, should also illustrate the need of recognizing the agitation which is just at present at its height. August Belmont has been quoted as saying that the Westchester Racing Association has not yet renewed its lease of Morris Park, and does not intend to do so. If Mr. Belmont has been quoted correctly it means that the Westchester association will relinquish its hold on the track at the conclusion of next season. Under such a method of procedure turfmen would naturally inter that the Westchester people intend to race somewhere else, turfmen would naturally inter that the West-chester people intend to race somewhere else, and for that reason the story of a new track built upon stupendous lines at Hempstead, L. L. will not down. An official of the Long Island Railroad has virtually put the seal of truth upon the story, and from other sources come additional evidence that the much-talked-of scheme is to become a certainty. With the establishment of a plant at Hemps come additional evidence that the much-talked-of scheme is to become a certainty. With the establishment of a plant at Hempstead, all of the racing in the metropolitan district will be confined to long Island tracks, as the New York and Port Chester Railroad will cut through Morris Park, probably as soon as the Westchester Racing Association lets go. Morris Park has been popular with New York society people, but among owners, who prepare their stables on Long Island tracks and roads the big course has not been an attraction. They have complained of the long trip from the Long Island homes to Westchester each day of the spring and fall meetings and have often longed for a change. Write Morris Park is the largest and best appointed race track in the United States, it is said that the new track at Hempstead will be even larger and will accommodate even more people than have assembled at Westchester. There were several occasions during the season has closed when 50,000 persons gathered to see a race. date even more people than have assembled at Westchester. There were several occasions during the season just closed when 50,000 persons gathered to see a race.

The bearing of Jockey Milton Henry's suit against the French Jockey Club has been set for Nov 25. Henry asks for $40,000 damages in view of the last that he can make that amount of money in a single season in the saddle. The boy, summing up the completint, asks the court to declare the Jockey Club's sentence null and void and to restore to him his license. He pleads absolute innocence of wrongdoing. Jockey Helgerson, a Western boy of considerable promise, whose services have been sought after by John A Drake, H. M. Ziegler and others, has been engaged for next season by an agent of Capt. S. Brown, the Pittsburg millionaire.

Acefull and Sliptbrift sailed for England on Saturday, according to programme. On the steamship La Touraine in yesterday from Harve was D. Sloan, an American trainer. Sloan says he trained for Cohen, Prevot and a number of owners on the French turf. Before he left France he sold a horse to Richard Croker for $5.000 francs; he expects to visit his Jome in Georgia and return shortly to France.

TO CONSIDER CHANGES IN THE U. S. G. A. CONSTITUTION.

ommittee Recommendations Likely to Be Adopted as Read-Lakewood Tournament to Wind Up M. G. A. Season Rhett Wins Crescent Championship.

Delmonico's to-morrow night will bring together the club representatives for the second time since the annual meeting in February. The object is to consider a num-ber of recommendations in the present constitution made by the Executive Committee, which, if adopted, will start the U. S. G. A. on a new basis in 1903 at the annual meeting. The gist of the suggested changes is to make more stringent the rule covering the adfive-sevenths vote of the Executive Committee, which must also give due considera-tion to the sectional location of the club apof preserving the just distribution of the Hereafter, too, the associate clubs are to have only one vote instead of two, but the annual dues will remain at $100, while the dues of the allied clubs are to be cut from $25 to $10, with the privilege of sending one non-voting delegate to each regular or special meeting. The voting on the recommendations will bring out whatever strength here is in the idea that has been discussed there is in the idea that has been discussed in some quarters that all the clubs should pay the same dues and have equal rights in voting; but in view of the apparent satisfaction with the existing U. S. G. A. system of government among the allied clubs, few of which have any wish to increase their responsibilities, there is little doubt that the revisions will be adopted as read. Aside from the constitutional business, President Robertson will appoint a committee at the special meeting to revise the rules of golf and to report at the next annual meeting.

There is every indication that the autumn tournament of the Golf Club of Lakewood, on Nov 27, 28 and 29, will bring out a bumper field, for it will close the list of M. G. A. open events of the year and give the players their last opportunity to settle their differences, secretary Lynch is loud in his praise of the green, which is so good that many regret that this will be the last Thanksgiving week tournament the club is to hold over the course, for by next fall the new links will be in commission. The medal round will be at eighteen holes, the first, second and third sixteens to keep on at match play for cups and runner-up prizes, with the usual extra eighteen-hole handicap on the last day. Club championships will be fought out this week on several of the local links, notably at Garden City, where the autumn handicaps also are in progress and will be finished on Wednesday.

New Orleans Follows Washington, and Our Plans for the Crescent City are Both Novel and Comprehensive.

Everybody conversant with the history of the Maxim & Gay Co. knows that at New Orleans, two years ago, it scored the sensational success which made its name a household word among racing people.

Last winter we returned to the scene of our former splendid efforts rich in experience from our campaign on the Eastern tracks, particularly Saratoga. We surung sensational surprise after surprise, beginning with Orla at 15 to 1 and reaching our meridian with Philma Paxton at 6) to 1, which was wired by us for a plunge for the limit bet to 3,000 clients, from Maine to California. All of this forms part of turf history Everybody that is anybody in racing is conversant with our

This year the New Orleans meeting opens on Nov. 27, three days before the Bennings meeting closes to transfer our operations from Bennings to New Orleans on that day. Co. is essentially a Western organization, its track sharps. The Maxim & Gay Co. is essentially a western organization, its track sharps, with one exception, having won their spurs there. Some of these men are already performing vigil at New Orleans, "clocking" the horses, and the results that we are bound to secure will be equal to any season's showing in Maxim & Gay history. Besides this, the stockholders of the Maxim & Gay Co. enjoy the intimate friendship of seven owners and trainers out of ten racing at New Orleans. It has access to information pointing to owners' and trainers' intentions there that it does not enjoy elsewhere to the same degree. We print below a record of our one-horse-guaranteed wire at New Orleans last winter, showing what a $20 daily flat bet

The arrangements which we have perfected for New Orleans are on a scale which has not higherto been approached in point of efficiency and capacity. For the past two years we have been handicapped at New Orleans by the fact that the knowledge of what horses we selected became public property through the sale and issue of our wire before the races comin point of embridge of what horses we selected became public property through the sale and issue of our way before the races commenced.

This year we have arranged to provide against this. The names of the horses we select, both for the one-horse wire and the three-horse wire, will not be communicated to anyloody before the races. They will not even be entrusted to the telegraph wires, either in plain language or in code. Even a code would prove of no value, since any bookmaker could subscribe for the information, have the message transcribed from the code, and re-telegraphed to him at the track.

To enable bettors to place their money on our horses to the very best advantage, the services of Mr. Sol. Lichenstein, an Fastern bookmaker and member of the Metropolitan Turf Association of national repute, have been secured. Mr. Lichenstein is far-famed as a "ring" general and he has consented to place the money of our clients at the track and guarantee them post odds. If you don't know his standing ask any bank. His good for $100,000 on any race tracis in the world.

As a symbol of good faith the Maxim & Gay Co. guarantees to place in the hands of the editor of the New Orleans Item the selections to ent of town subscribers before mean each day of the races, such latters to be an postmark of not later than 1 P. M. of the day the races are to be run.
